Accepted Manuscript

Qualitative Research Process Applied to Organ Donation

Puri Gironés, Dolores Burguete, Regimar Machado, Mario Dominguez, Manuel Lillo

PII: S0041-1345(18)30239-2

DOI: 10.1016/j.transproceed.2018.03.012

Reference: TPS 28223

To appear in: Transplantation Proceedings

Received Date: 16 October 2017

Accepted Date: 1 March 2018

Please cite this article as: Gironés P, Burguete D, Machado R, Dominguez M, Lillo M, Qualitative Research Process Applied to Organ Donation, Transplantation Proceedings (2018), doi: 10.1016/j.transproceed.2018.03.012.

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting proof before it is published in its final form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

TITLE PAGE

Manuscript Title Here:

QUALITATIVE RESEARCH PROCESS APPLIED TO ORGAN DONATION

My manuscript is submitted for the following meeting (spell out meeting name):

Gironés P, Sanchez M, Machado R, Lillo M. Impact of the donation of organs in families who have lived the experience: phenomenological study. Poster (P155). III Congress of the Spanish society of transplants. Valencia. 2014

As a continuation of the published work:

Gironés P, Lillo Crespo M, Dominguez-Santamaria JM. Impact of organ donation in Spanish families: phenomenological approach through relatives' lived experiences. Transplantation Proceedings, 2015, vol. 47, no. 1: 4-6. DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.transproceed.2015.01.001>

That form part of the doctoral thesis:

Girones P. thesis. Impact of organ donation among family members who have lived the experience: study phenomenological. https://rua.ua.es/dspace/bitstream/10045/58967/1/tesis_girones_guillem.pdf

(Do not use abbreviations. If an animal study, state the species. If a Case Report, state "Case Report".)

Authors: Given name and Family Name (Surname)

Puri Gironés^a

Dolores Burguete^b

Regimar Machado^c

Mario Dominguez^d

Manuel Lillo^d

Affiliations: Department, Institution, City, Country

^aCoordinación de Trasplantes, Hospital U.i P. La Fe, Valencia, España

^bUniversidad Católica de Valencia, España

^cUniversidad de Sao Carlos. Brasil

^dUniversidad de Alicante, España

Email addresses of authors:

girones_pur@gva.es

dobur2001@yahoo.es

regimarmachado@gmail.com

jm.dominguez@ua.es

manuel.lillo@ua.es

Corresponding author: Given Name and Surname; University, Postal Address, Street, Postal Code, City, Country; Email, Telephone +. Fax +

Puri Gironés, Coordinación de Trasplantes Hospital U.i P. La Fe, calle/Biar, 6 pta 17, 46015 Valencia, España; girones_pur@gva.es, Tel 0034 619258869, FAX 0034 963265533

Grant information:No subsidy

This research did not receive any specific grant from funding agencies in the public, commercial, or not-for-profit sectors.

Key words:

Organ donor, family interview, fenomenology, meaning units

Abbreviations: (in alphabetical order)

Tables: ____0____

Figures: ____1____ (color No)

The family interview for organ donation continues to be one of the main concerns of Transplant Coordinators. We are approaching the family because we need to know the opinion of the person who has just died about the donation of his/her organs. The objective of this paper is to describe how the application of the qualitative methodology has been followed to perceive what the relatives live in the moment in which they are informed of the death of their relative and they are offered the option of organ donation. Phenomenology is a philosophy that deals with the granting of meanings. It can simply describe or try to interpret them. DEVELOPMENT: Our informants were selected from among the donor families, until the 11 families were obtained. We use the Giorgi's method because it allows us to identify the essence of a phenomenon and transform the lived experience into a textual expression of its essence. The unit of analysis was, each of the statements of the discourse that describes and interprets a reality, what we call "essence" or " meaning units ". It must be the minimum expression of an episode and the experience in relation to it. We have detected 24 themes of the meaning units are most important for families in our area. Families agree on talking about donation, mourning, death, consolation from the donation and the importance of the support received. Phenomenology is adequate to deepen into the feelings and interests of families in the process of donation.

Organ donor, family interview, fenomenology, meaning units

Research Highlights

- The Phenomenology sees the facts as presented in the consciousness
- Each of the sentences with sense was considered as a Unit of Meaning or Essence, which is the unit of data
- The answers of our informants are so full of "sense" that almost any clarification is superfluous
- The reality that matters is what people perceive as important
- Phenomenology is adequate to deepen into the feelings and interests of families in the process of donation